Today's Game . . .

Welcome Alums to the sixth meeting between Montana and Portland State. John L. Delano, Alumni Director, and staff hope you have enjoyed yourself and hope the game comes out to your liking.

The Grizzlies and Vikings have met five times and Montana has swept all five games. The series originated in 1965 in Portland with Montana taking a 33-7 win. Since the Grizzlies have taken 10-0 (1966); 55-7 (1967); 58-0 (1968) and 49-14 (1969) wins.

Coach Jack Swarthout puts his 7-0 record and 17-0 regular season victory streak on the line against a Portland team that is 4-2 on the season. The Vikings lost to Simon Fraser in the season's opener, 21-12 and last weekend lost to Idaho 17-16 in Pullman.

Today's contest pits a strong rushing attack, Montana, against a dynamic passing attack. Portland State with All-American Tim Von Dulm at the helm are the nation's leading passing team. The Portland signal caller has completed 150 of 278 with 11 interceptions for 1853 yards and a 54 per cent completion average.

Montana is the number two rushing team in the nation averaging 342.8 yards per game. The Grizzlies are number six in total offense with a 451 yard average.

To see more vividly the contrast between the teams, stats are necessary.

TEAM STATS (average yards)

Montana's Winningest Coach . . .

Douglas A. Fessenden 1907-1969

Last June the University of Montana's winningest coach passed away at the age of 69 in San Francisco, Calif.

Douglas A. (Doug) Fessenden, who's son Ralph is a professor and chairman of the Department of Chemistry at UM, coached the Grizzlies over an intermittent 10-year period to a 45-39 record.

Fessenden was born in 1907 at Onawa, Iowa and came to the University of Montana in 1935.

In three years, he guided the Tips from a dismal 1-5-2 record to the best record prior to 1969. In 1937 Montana won seven games and lost one to the University of Idaho which caused the team to miss the Cotton Bowl bid.

The 1937 record is a hallmark in UM football history and the names Milt Popovich, Bill Lazetich and others still serve as reminders of Fessenden's great unit. The record was established despite the fact that Montana then played in the Pacific Coast Conference against the likes of UCLA, Stanford and Washington.

In the next few years, Fessenden enjoyed continued success helped by the youthful halfback, Jack Swarthout, who coached the Grizzlies to the 10-0 season in 1969.

Although the 1938 and 1939 seasons did not fulfill the fan's expectations, Fessenden coached Montana to a 6-3 record in 1941.

From 1942-46 Fessenden was the Station and Command director in the Army Air Corp Physical Training Program and coached the co-champions of the National Air Force League in 1945 football action.

After the war, he returned to UM and in 1947 led the Grizzlies to a 7-4 record.

In 1950, Fessenden took a leave of absence to continue his graduate work at Columbia and became director of athletics at San Francisco State University.

Fessenden was an ace quarter-miler, the best in the Big-10 in 1925 at the University of Illinois, his alma mater.

From 1927-30 he was a teacher and coach at Brownsville Public Schools in Texas and from 1930-35 he coached high school ball in Chicago's city league.

Memorial donations may be made to the UM Foundation for the Doug Fessenden Memorial Fund.

how to measure a store?

The Mercantile . . . Montana's largest store in size, variety, value and number of customers! But . . . we're a small store at heart and enjoy our personal contacts with our customers and personal knowledge of their desires!

We like to feel we are measured not by square feet of floor space . . . not by the number of floors or the brick, stone and steel of our buildings . . . BUT, by the depth of our courtesy, the broadness of our hospitality, the circumference of our service and the dimension of guaranteed values we offer! Just a few of the measurements that make The Mercantile great!

DSA Winners . . .

In recognition of their achievements, four University of Montana alumni will be honored with Distinguished Service Awards at the 1970 homecoming.

The recipients are Dr. Jean'ne M. Shreeve, Moscow, Idaho; William H. Forbis, Missoula; Harold L. Baird, Tacoma, Washington; and Dr. Thomas L. Hawkins, Helena.

Dr. Jean'ne M. Shreeve is a 1953 University of Montana chemistry graduate. She received her master's degree from the University of Minnesota and her doctorate in chemistry from the University of Washington.

Presently Dr. Shreeve is a professor of chemistry at the University of Idaho and is an authority in the field of fluorine chemistry. She is also the recipient of the 1967-68 Ramsay Memorial Fellowship, which is presented to the top U.S. scientist by the trustees of the University College, London, England.

Mr. Harold L. Baird is a 1923 University of Montana business administration graduate. He is chairman of the board of United Pacific Insurance Company, a member of the board of overseers of Whitman College, a director of the Puget Sound National Bank and the Tacoma General Hospital.

While attending the UM, Baird was president of his junior and senior classes, a member of Sigma Chi social fraternity and of various honorary and athletic organizations.

A screening committee appointed by the University of Montana Alumni Association Board of Directors selected the recipients.

The awards are based on their distinguished service to the University, the state or nation and for the honor which they have brought to the University of Montana. Presentation of the awards will be at a noon luncheon on Friday, October 30 in the University Center.

William H. Forbis is a 1939 graduate of the University of Montana's School of Journalism. His career began as editor of the Montana Kaimin, the student newspaper at the UM. He was a member of Sigma Chi social fraternity, and Sigma Delta Chi men's journalism honorary along with being very active in student government.

Forbis joined Time magazine in 1949 as a correspondent in Latin America. In 1955 he was appointed an associate editor for Time and later became chief correspondent in South America. In 1969 Forbis joined the university's staff as a lecturer.

Dr. Thomas L. Hawkins has been president and secretary of the Montana Medical Association, secretary of the Montana Physicians Service for five years and of the State Board of Medical Examiners for eight years, and was associate medical director of the Western Life Insurance Company for a number of years.

Dr. Hawkins is a member in the Fellow American College of Surgeons, and in the Fellow American Association for the Surgery of Trauma. In Montana Dr. Hawkins has served on the board of directors of the Blue Shield health insurance, on the Helena School Board, and on the staff of the Showdair Hospital in Helena.

Athlete of the Year . . .

The Athlete of the Year picked by the University of Montana Alumni Association happens to be an All-American Grizzly football player, the Big Sky wrestling champ in the heavyweight class and a former vice-president of the Gray's Harbor College student body. It is the third time Miller has received such an award.

Larry Miller is a 5-9 and 250 lb. defensive tackle that is devastating. He came to Montana in 1969 and since has started every football game and competed in every wrestling match for this University.

In 1969 when the Grizzlies went undefeated (10-0) Miller was one of three in the Montana front defensive four to earn All-Big-Sky first team honors and was selected to the third All-American team by the Associated Press. The other two All-Big Sky linemen for Montana were end Jim Nordstrom and tackle Larry Stranahan, both on the 1970 squad.

After the Camellia Bowl, Miller turned in his football gear and checked out his wrestling uniform. He won 12 straight matches including the conference heavyweight championship and pinned 10 of the 12 opponents.

At Grays Harbor College, Miller was All-Washington junior college and was twice All-American JC at the Aberdeen College.

In wrestling at Grays Harbor Miller won both JC state heavyweight titles and the Northwest Greco-Roman Freestyle championship. Miller was Grays Harbor's Athlete of the Year in 1969. He was also vice-president of the student body in his sophomore year.

Miller came to Grays Harbor from Alhambra High School in Martinez, Calif. As a prep grappler he was equally impressive winning the California heavyweight title in 1967 and captained Alhambra's undefeated team.

He was a guard in high school and played with fierce savvy. He was selected to the All-Foothills Conference and All-Contra Costa County teams and was Alhambra's Athlete of the Year in 1967.

In 1970 Miller has been nominated by Coach Jack Swarthout as the Big Sky player of the week and received the honor after the Northern Illinois game.

Swarthout said, "Larry Miller certainly is an outstanding young man with a brilliant future. He is dedicated, talented and hard-working. He is a leader on the field and puts everything into the game. He is a credit to our team, the game, his families, the University and the community and makes his coaches feel proud to be a part of football."

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Prenice Miller, Martinez, California.

HALFTIME ENTERTAINMENT . . .

Performing at halftime for your pleasure is Kathy Brunell, a UM freshman. She is a native of Butte where she was head majorette at Butte Public High School during her junior and senior years in high school. She was leader of the Purple B's drill team which won several top honors in competition throughout the Northwest. Kathy also won one of the five trophies given at the Big Sky Clinic on the campus of Utah State University. More than 500 girls from every state west of the Mississippi competed at the clinic.

UM ATHLETE OF THE YEAR . . .

The female athlete of the year is an accomplished thinclad for the Kalispell Timberette Track Club.

Mary Lalum is a senior at Flathead County High School and has competed for the Timberettes since 1963. She is a champion hurdler placing third in the 80 yard hurdles in the National Junior Olympics in Knoxville, Tenn. last spring; a high jumper, placing second in the Phoenix Invitational last spring, the state pentathlon champion, a sprinter, a long jumper and a relay team member.

Her awards are numerous and impossible to encompass in this space. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Lalum, Kalispell and her coach is Neil Eliason.

Student co-ordinators for this year's Homecoming were Sally Hislop and Mike Morrison. They have put forth many hours of work to make the University of Montana's 1970 Homecoming a memorable occasion.

Four doctors from the University Health Center keep the Grizzly teams in top shape. They are (seated l. to r.) Robert B. Curry and Paul Wagner, (standing) Arthur Knight and Basil Bobowiec.

Four Big Sky Championships In 1969-70 . . .

Last year, the University of Montana athletic program produced four championship teams in the sports of football, cross country, swimming and skiing and placed second in the race to cop the All-Sports Trophy won by Weber State.

Jack Swarthout led the Grizzlies to their first undefeated and untied season in the history of the University of Montana and the long awaited bowl bid, Camellia Bowl.

Harley Lewis took the Big Sky cross country crown last November in Moscow and his harriers placed one-two-three in the conference finals. Wade Jacobsen won his second consecutive individual championship, senior Ray Velez took second and frosh standout, George Cook was third.

Coach Fred Stetson shook off a strong challenge from Idaho State to win his sixth consecutive swim title for Montana. Freshman star Dave Garard, Missoula and veteran Kurt von Tagen were the big winners for the Grizzlies and went on to the nationals.

Coach Rusty Lyons brought the Tip skiers through the best season ever and cruised to the Big Sky championships. His young team will be tough to beat this season and men like Alan Anderson, Gary Keltz, Craig Montier and Tom Zachery will be tough to beat in the Big Sky finals.

Montana's track team took second; its wrestlers, fifth; the golf team, third; the basketball team, fifth; baseballers took fifth and the tennis team again took third.

For Montana to win the Big Sky All-Sports Trophy and to have continued success in the sports it dominates, your support is needed. Support Montana athletics.

The Future of the University of Montana . . .

by Robert T. Pantzer
President

President Pantzer

That the University of Montana will continue to grow is inevitable. Projections show the approximate student enrollment in 1980 will be 10,500 students, an increase of 20 per cent from this year. But these figures do not tell the whole story. Growth at the University will not mean simply the swelling of ranks: innovations will be necessary to meet the demands on a contemporary institution of higher learning.

Some ways this institution must keep up with its enrollment are obvious. The need for new and better library facilities has been mentioned in this report and elsewhere. A new library and acquisition of books are at the top of our list of priorities.

Inadequate housing, classroom and health facilities will be attacked during the coming biennium. The addition of the Science Complex will be greatly welcomed and several buildings, including the old library and the Harry Adams Field House, will undergo renovation to provide classroom and office space. The overburdened Health Service also will be renovated to handle its average 40,000 annual patient visits. To meet the demands of increasing enrollment of married students, we plan to add 50 new units of married student housing during the next biennium.

Keeping abreast of the times, however, does not only mean additions and expansion. It is also necessary to sustain and improve existing instructional programs to ensure maintenance of the University's status as an institution of quality education. Not only must we maintain the strength of the sciences and professional fields, but also bolster our programs in the humanities and fine arts, which have been neglected as national emphasis has been placed on the sciences. To do this, we must add well-trained highly competent faculty and review faculty salaries to attract new members and retain present faculty.

The University has assumed a position as a major graduate institution in the western states. To meet the demands made by sharp increases in graduate enrollment, we hope to establish an optimum graduate and professional student-faculty ration of four to one.

We also plan to accelerate graduate education by introducing new degrees. Several departments already have begun planning to upgrade programs and offer doctorate degrees in the near future. Two proposed programs are in fields very important to Montana's future — medical science and environmental studies.

These proposed programs reflect a growing trend in higher education — an emphasis on interdisciplinary studies. In the decade of the '60's, universities have reacted against further specialization. Instead, they have tended to consolidate related areas into single, "cluster" or interdisciplinary programs, such as the ethnic studies courses which have been established here.

Such curriculum changes are the result of a kind of growth and change that cannot be measured by enrollment statistics or new construction. This change, instead, is inherent in the subtle shift in emphasis on the role of education, a shift brought about mainly by the attitudes of a new breed of student.

Science Complex — More Buildings

I believe tomorrow's students at the University of Montana will make more demands on the University to provide an educational environment that is orientated toward social concerns and involves students in those concerns. It will be the duty of the faculty and administration to keep up with the thinking of today's serious and fast-moving young people.

In the past biennium students here increasingly have voiced their concerns through demonstrations, peaceful marches and open dialogues with the public. This type of activity, I believe, will continue and increase. Violence has been and is remote at this institution. To what extent protest remains peaceful, however, will depend very much on the outcome of the Vietnam war and the solution to other problems in this country. It also will depend on how well the University keeps open channels of communication between students, faculty and administration.

It is apparent that today's students will be of great benefit to Montana and the country in public service and in the solution of many social problems. It is our task to provide these students with a good educational background to temper their enthusiasm with reason and knowledge. To do this we must continue to provide them with vital, high caliber courses of study. This of course means money. And funding, as in the past, will continue to be the top need in the University's future.

Costs are increasing and in Montana the sources of funds to provide for progress are not evident at this time. Students are already financially overburdened. To ask them to pay more would be in direct conflict with the principle of education upon which this country was founded — that every person should have the opportunity to attend school. Furthermore, it is society, not the students, which benefits most from educating our people.

Therefore, the financial burden will remain with the citizens of Montana. In the future we will continue to appeal for funds to Montanans, who have been generous in the past. If we do not have enough money, we will not have quality education. The University of Montana will be what the people of Montana want it to be. It is as simple as that.

Portland State University

Portland State gained University status in 1969 after 14 years a College, nine years a junior college. During that brief period of time, it has grown nearly as large as the state's other two major Universities at Eugene and Corvallis.

Located just ten blocks from the center of downtown Portland, PSU is accessible to nearly one million persons within one-half hours drive. The park blocks, which cut a north-south swath through the campus, are situated seven blocks west of the Willamette River, one of the west's major inland waterways for commercial navigation and recreation.

Portland State presently offers bachelor's degrees in 25 liberal arts and professional areas; graduate degrees in 15 areas; and soon will offer doctoral programs. Enrollment has passed the 10,000-mark and projections call for 20,000 students by the mid-80's.

The campus is changing daily and soon will encompass a 25-block area bounded by S. W. 5th, S. W. Market and the Stadium Freeway. The past few years have seen the growth of new five story buildings for science, library, classroom and parking.

Pres. Gregory B. Wolfe is in his third year at Portland State, administering and arbitrating the wide-range of activities involving more than 15,000 persons bridging two generations. It is not an easy role, but it is one to which President Wolfe brings a great background of experience.

Health and Physical Education Building

Science Building

Library

Athletically, physical facilities have also kept pace. Football is now both practiced and played at newly artificially-turfed 30,000 seat Portland Civic Stadium; basketball and wrestling teams perform in the five-year-old multi-purpose Physical Education Building; the baseball team plans to play more of its games in the Stadium; and track is due for an all-weather surface, quarter-mile oval.

Only a short walk from the center of one of the major cities of the west, or only an hour and a half from Pacific Ocean beaches and the slopes of snow-covered Mt. Hood, makes Portland and the city's burgeoning State University an attractive home for the undergraduate or graduate student.

University needs books . . .

The University of Montana Alumni Association this past summer was one-tenth of its way toward realizing its goal in helping to resolve one of the University's greatest problems — the lack of adequate library resources.

By June 30, 1970, the association had received contributions and pledges totaling $26,219.20. The goal to be reached by December 31, 1971, is $220,000.

The association set its goal for library contributions in August 1969, after President Pantzer challenged members of the Alumni Association Board of Directors to conduct a drive for new library books.

At that meeting of the board, the challenge was accepted and Hal Stearns, Alumni Association president, was appointed chairman of the Library Support Project.

President Pantzer's appeal came following a visit in 1968 by the Northwest accreditation team. The committee pointed out that the University's most pressing need is the strengthening of its library facilities. If something was not done about the Library within the next five years the committee warned, the University might be in danger of losing its high academic rating.

Long aware of the problem, the administration already had made plans for the construction of a $6.2 million library. The other side of the problem — the acquisition of library books — had to be tackled through private sources.

In 1968 the Library had 528,083 volumes. To keep pace with the demands made upon it, and especially to sustain expanding graduate problems, the library needs 710,268 books.

The acquisition of these 182,185 volumes entails approximately $2 million in private funding. According to Dr. John Stewart, dean of the Graduate School, the money will not be forthcoming from the state "and funds available from federal or foundation sources for library materials are extremely limited."

John L. Delano, executive director of the association, has appealed to all alumni to contribute at least $10, the average cost of processing and buying one book.

The project also has been endorsed by Senator Mike Mansfield, Governor Forrest Anderson and student leaders such as the late Ben Briscoe, former ASUM president, and Ken Robertson, former editor of the Kaimin.

Bobcats Next Week . . .

Throw the record books out the window and prepare for the game of the year. The Grizzlies of Montana are after the Bobcats from Montana State and out to prove that what MSU fans say about last year's luck was not true. The Bobcats boast that only Lady Luck prevailed last year in Bozeman when Montana won 7-6. The Grizzlies were 10-0 last season and Montana State 1-8 last year. Coach Swarthout's crew broke a seven game losing streak and are out for win number two over the cross state rivals. In any event it should be a real barn-burner. SKIN THE CATS!!!

151 years ago, a new idea came to the college campus.

A concept that has helped to keep America strong.

In 1819, at what is now Norwich University, military instruction was first offered on a civilian college campus.

It was a natural development of our Country's traditional concept of the citizen-soldier and of civilian control over our Defense Forces.

Today, 151 years later, Army ROTC is carrying on that tradition and has become an important resource of leadership not only for national defense, but for civilian enterprise as well.

Some 16 percent of our congressmen, 14 percent of our governors and thousands of business and professional leaders have had ROTC training.

Army ROTC offers four, three, two and one-year scholarships to outstanding students. It enables ROTC graduates to fulfill their military obligations as officers. And it provides leadership experience that gives them an edge in any career they choose.

Any way you look at it, Army ROTC is a vital factor in helping to keep America young and strong. For more information on, the Four Year and Two Year (Graduate Students and Sophomores) programs, visit or write: The Professor of Military Science, Room 102, Men's Gymnasium.

Mr. Robert T. Pantzer
1940 Army ROTC Graduate of the University of Montana; President
— University of Montana

Dr. Edwin G. Koch
1928 Army ROTC Graduate, University of Montana; President —
Montana College of Mineral Science and Technology.

Lieutenant General
George I. Forsythe
1939 Army ROTC Graduate of the University of Montana; Commanding General, Combat Development Command.

Major General John H. Hay
1939 Army ROTC Graduate of the University of Montana; Commandant—Command and General
Staff College, Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas.

Mr. Jack Swarthout
1943 Army Graduate of the University of Montana; Director of Athletics and Head Football Coach — University of Montana.

Army ROTC 151st year of officer training on the college campus.

CHEVY'S NEW LITTLE CAR IS OPEN FOR BUSINESS.

Vega 2300 is here at last.

We'd have brought it out sooner, but you know how it is. We've got a lot riding on this little car and we wanted it to be right, really right, before turning it over to you.

Now we're ready.

And you were wise to wait.

Because now you can buy what we at Chevrolet have come to modestly believe is the best little car in the world.

We don't expect this ad to convince you.

We expect the car to, though.

Vega. The little car that does everything well. Look into it.
